OVERVIEW

Mantra's Orion range is a collection of pendant lights with an unconventional twist. The two and four light versions are supplied with wire locker components which can be used to widen the range at which each light, with their shallow cone frame, is hung from the ceiling. This rids the user of the constraints enforced by a ceiling bar allowing further control and design over the ascetic of the fixture. The single, 3 light linear and four light round pendants however, follow a more traditional structure with their fixed plates.
